Northern California:

The highest rainfall intensities are expected Monday night into Tuesday, when there is a threat of thunderstorms. Active Weather Warnings, Watches and Advisories by County:

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION

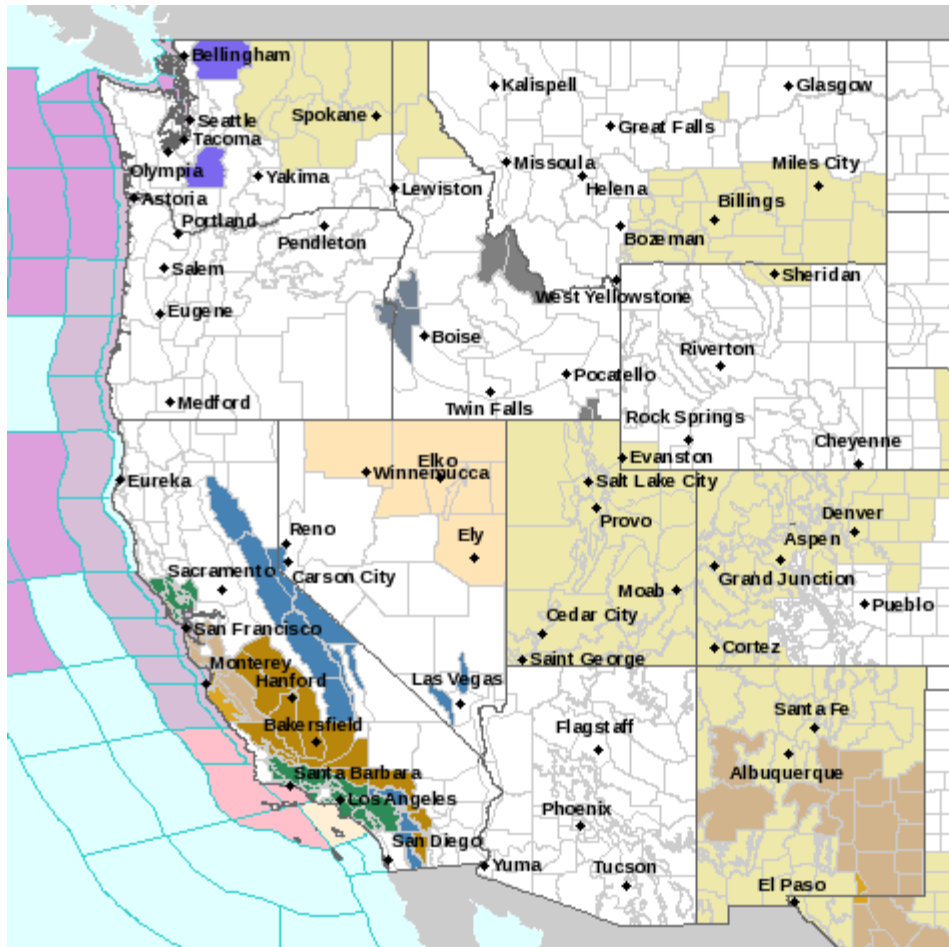

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

Lingering moisture from yesterday's system and clearing skies has lead to the formation of fog across the valleys this morning. Expect the area of fog to become more widespread by daybreak with patches of dense fog. Drivers should be aware and prepare for rapidly changing visibilities. Upper level ridging shifts east today ahead of storm system brewing in the Pacific. This will allow for one more day of dry weather with clouds beginning to stream into the area throughout the day. Afternoon highs should be fairly similar to Saturday.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Dry and mild weather is expected through tonight. A strong storm system will bring significant rain with the possibility of debris flow across the recent burn areas, mountain snow, gusty winds and a slight chance of thunderstorms to the area Monday into Tuesday. Gusty northerly winds are likely behind the system by Wednesday with a diminishing shower threat. High pressure will bring dry weather with offshore flow and a warming trend to the region late next week.

Cal OES LAW ENFORCEMENT MISSIONS

Cal OES Law Missions

- 2018-LAW-44413, on 01/06/18 at 0934 hours, the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center (AFRCC) received a call from Orange County Sheriff's Office requesting cell phone forensics for a missing person case. I spoke with Orange County and they advised it was a Law Enforcement sensitive case and needed to track a cell phone. I referred them to the AFRCC who later determined they were unable to assist due to it being a criminal case not a Search and Rescue. Orange County was given the law enforcement contacts of the cell provider to retrieve the information. Mission Closed
- 2018-LAW-44419, on 01/06/18 at 1226 hours, the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center (AFRCC) received a Personal Locator Beacon (PLB) from the Los Angeles Area. They supplied the LDO with the registered owner's information. I was able to contact the RO on his cell phone who said he had fallen and was injured while hiking in the wilderness. The RO had also contacted the Los Angeles Air Unit and they were already in route to assist. I confirmed that information with the Los Angeles Aero Unit supervisor. At 1336 hours, the victim was airlifted out of the area and transported to a local hospital for his injuries. Mission Closed.
